What are PESITRO UltraX Bristles?

Unlike standard nylon bristles, UltraX™ filaments are made from a special high-performance polyester. This material is finer, softer, and significantly less water-absorbent (UltraX™ 0.20% vs. Nylon 3.00%). The result is a bristle that remains dry, hygienic, and stable in shape, reducing bacterial buildup one of the leading causes of oral diseases.

What do these numbers mean: 12680, 10000, 6580, 3980, 1580?

The number indicates the number of bristles (filaments) in the toothbrush. The higher the bristle count, the finer and softer the bristles, making it more suitable for highly sensitive teeth and gums.

Higher bristle count = Greater softness & sensitivity care.

Why Choose a PESITRO Toothbrush?

High-density UltraX™ bristles with smoothly rounded tips provide gentle, effective cleaning while caring for gums and enamel. The ergonomic handle offers a secure grip and precise control, helping maintain the recommended 45° brushing angle, while the adjustable memory head can be bent to your preferred angle and locks securely in place.

The PESITRO® PULSE transcends conventional brushing by utilizing high-frequency sonic vibrations (44,000-60,000 pulses per minute) to provide a dual-action cleaning effect. This approach combines direct mechanical scrubbing with powerful hydrodynamic forces to remove plaque biofilm from surfaces both directly accessible and beyond the reach of the bristles.

High-frequency bristle tips provide effective mechanical cleaning, while sonic vibrations create micro-bubbles and fluid movement that penetrate 4–5 mm beyond the bristle tips to disrupt plaque in hard-to-reach areas. The Gentle head is ideal for sensitive gums, the Power head offers deep daily cleaning, and the Target head ensures daily precision around implants, orthodontic brackets, and crowded teeth.
